PAIR JAILED FOR MURDER

Motive still unclear for brutal attack in broad daylight

A DAGENHAM man has been sentenced to 20 years in prison for murdering a teenager.

Ronnie Atuqiya, 21, of Second Avenue, was jailed at the Old Bailey on Friday after being found guilty of the murder of David Maxwell.

Chudi Hengari-Ajufo, 18, of no fixed address, was sentenced to life in prison with a recommendation to serve a minimum of 16 years for murder.

The court heard they stalked David, 18, down the street and stabbed him in the back in Pilgrimage Street towards Long Lane, on October 31 last year.

Investigating officer Detective Inspector Nathan Eason, of the Homicide and Major Crime Command, said: "This was a brutal and vicious attack in broad daylight on a teenager just walking down the street.

"Atuqiya and Hengari-Ajufo stalked David and his friend through the local area before striking.

"Atuqiya was carrying at least one knife – he and his associate clearly intended to cause David very serious harm that day.

"It remains unclear what the motive for this attack was but I am pleased they have been convicted and will spend a long time behind bars."

The jury heard David was walking with a friend when he was approached by two people from behind.

One pulled out a knife and stabbed him in the back and shoulder. David, who lived in a hostel, stumbled forward and collapsed on the pavement.

The two suspects then ran off in the opposite direction.

A post-mortem examination found one of the stab wounds had pierced his heart.

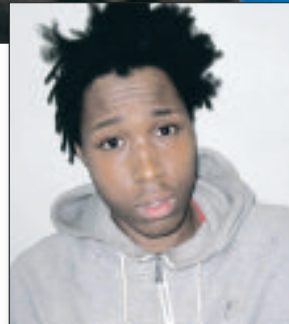

Several witnesses saw the attack and identified a man with the street name of "Billz" as the suspect holding the weapon.

"Billz" was quickly identified as Atuqiya and he was arrested at his home on November 3, 2014.

Clothing matching that worn by the suspect on the day of the murder was found in his bedroom.

Examination of CCTV footage showed the suspects together at the time of the murder in the area and following David and his friend.

Pupils wise up about money

BOARD GAME: Dr Helen Jenner and head Kerry Thomas with Dr Arinola Araba

AN ENTREPRENEUR has launched a maths skills game at a school.

Dr Arinola Araba, from Dagenham, has designed a game called bMoneywize, which helps young people become financially aware and confident with money.

She launched the initiative at James Cambell Primary School, in Langley Crescent, Dagenham, alongside the mayor Cllr Simon Bremner, Cllr Lynda Rice and Dr Helen Jenner, Barking and Dagenham Council's director of children's services.

The game's development began in 2013 helped by young people from Sydney Russell and Jo Richardson schools.

CHILD'S PLAY: Pupils play the game with Mayor Simon Bremner

Dr Araba said: "I want to thank all the young people who gave their time, the support from local schools and Barking and Dagenham Council for all of their help and for seeing the possibilities of a game engaging young people and their families in a totally new way. It's a joy to see young people being given an opportunity through play to manage money whilst being challenged with mental arithmetic problems."

James Cambell pupils played the game, which is designed to change the way they view maths, and teaches them about money management and financial planning.

Council leader Cllr Darren Rodwell said: "It's been great being a part of efforts to improve young people's maths skills and I really enjoyed playing the game with my own family."

Hard-working students hailed at awards ceremony

STUDENTS from Barking and Dagenham College in Dagenham Road, have been honoured at their awards ceremony.

Hilary Moore, head of the college, said: "Our annual awards event is a great way of being able to celebrate all the hard work our students have put in over the year."

"They deserve to be honoured in this way, and it was a pleasure to be able to spend the awards evening with them and their friends and family."

WINNERS: The food studies level 1 class, and right, Shantal Rola and Julius Razanauskas

Fly tippers face up to public shaming

FLY-TIPPERS are to be named and shamed.

Redbridge Council is to publish most-wanted style pictures on its website to help with prosecuting fly tippers.

A council committee approved plans on Wednesday, July 1, to place pictures of on the site to help track them down are to be discussed at committee.

Councillor Dev Sharma, Redbridge Council's cabinet member for civic pride, said: "The council has taken a hard line against fly tipping and we need to find ways to make sure that we can eradicate it from our streets.

"We've said before we need the public's help in identifying culprits and we plan to make that easier by placing pictures of suspects on our website so people can help identify them and they can help us with our enquiries.

"What we are proposing is a new tool to help us investigate fly tipping and identify suspected offenders. This is not about vilifying people but giving the council as much information as it can have to be able to enforce the rules around fly tipping properly. We are taking this matter very seriously and this is another example of just how important we think this is."

Council bosses stress they are facing a difficult battle against those who dump rubbish. A range of measures have been tested try and clamp down on the issue, including giving police powers to street enforcement.

Scientist Cox is VIP at award ceremony

By Matthew Stanton

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

STUDENTS have celebrated an annual award ceremony with a very special guest.

Teachers at Redbridge College, in Little Heath, Ilford, honoured high performing pupils in front of television personality, Professor Brian Cox, at Ilford Town Hall.

The auditorium was packed with parents and friends on Thursday. Professor Cox said:

"Years ago, in 2006, I was invited to the college and when I came, I was so impressed with the vision of what the college was doing for students of all ages that I asked to be involved."

"I come back every year and I just love it; to see it expand and grow and change has been terrific."

The former D-Ream band member, who presents BBC Two's Human Universe and Radio 4's the Infinite Monkey Cage, is a college patron. Student of the Year was beauty therapist Kerry Dagger Smith.

The T.OBE award, given to a mature student who has overcome difficulties in order to study, went to catering student, Simon Assaf.

The ceremony also honoured Jack Petchey award winners, students who have overcome adversity and who have inspired others.

The college is enrolling from August 20, to September 1.

SMOKE ALARMS IN RENTED PROPERTIES

New laws coming soon

Landlords will be required to:

- Fit at least one smoke alarm on each floor of their premises
- Fit a carbon monoxide alarm in rooms containing a solid fuel appliance
- Check that all alarms are working when a new tenancy starts.

To help landlords prepare for the new laws the Government has provided 500,000 free alarms.

These are available from your local fire and rescue service. Visit www.alarms4life.com for more information or to find your local service.

Please don't wait – act now and request your free alarm. It could save someone's life.

Alarms
4Life

A small change to save lives

Landlords across England are being urged to act now to ensure they are ready for new safety laws aimed at saving dozens of lives a year.

The new regulations will make it compulsory for all landlords to fit smoke alarms in rented homes. Under the new laws smoke alarms must be fitted on every floor of the property as well as carbon monoxide alarms in properties which burn solid fuels. Landlords must also check the alarms are working at the start of every new tenancy with potential penalties of up to £5,000 if they don't comply.

The Chief Fire Officers' Association (CFOA) campaigned for more than two years for the legislation to be introduced. Working closely with landlords and the main landlord associations and groups it presented key evidence and research into the Government's national review of the issue.

Mark Cashin, Chair of CFOA's Home Safety Committee, said: "We are delighted that the Government has worked with us to bring in these new laws which will improve the safety of families and stop dozens of people from losing their lives to fire each year.

"While overall smoke alarm ownership in the country stands at around 90%, those living in private rented homes are far less likely to have a working smoke alarm. Statistically people are four times more likely to die in a fire in the home if there is no working smoke alarm and over the next 10 years it is estimated that the new laws will result in 231 fewer deaths and 5,860 less injuries."

The new regulations do not apply to social landlords and Houses in Multiple Occupation (HMOs) as these are both covered by other existing laws.

To help landlords gear up for the new regulations, which subject to Parliamentary approval are expected to come into force this October, the Government has provided local Fire and Rescue Services with a limited number of free smoke and carbon monoxide alarms to distribute to give out ahead of the regulations coming into force.

Landlords can request their smoke alarm from London Fire Brigade by emailing PRSSmokeandCOAlarms@London-fire.gov.uk.

Firefighters and the lessons of 7/7

By Matthew Stanton

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

LONDON'S fire commissioner claims firefighters are "better equipped than ever" following the 10th anniversary of the 7/7 bombings. Ron survived, whatever time the emergency services had reached the scenes of the explosions.

Mr Dobson said: "As a brigade we took time to remember the 52 lives that were lost, including a member of our staff but also the incredible acts of bravery by firefighters and other emergency service colleagues."

"I'm incredibly proud of our firefighters and control room staff who dealt with the traumatic incidents on the 7 July 2005. They went above and beyond the call of duty. It wasn't just the first responders who showed strength and courage that day, London as a city pulled together and over the years, lots of stories have surfaced about members of the public helping the injured and distressed."

The bombings highlighted issues of radio traffic between agencies and the ability to communicate from deeper tunnels to officers on the ground.

By February 2007, all crews were given a personal hand-held radio with multiple radio channels and a dedicated channel for firefighters.

Dobson, who was the brigade's gold commander on July 7, 2005, insisted improvements have been made to radio communications, equipment and training with partner agencies since the terrorist attack.

He stressed these improvements help firefighters at any emergency and especially when faced with a large scale incident like the attack, which killed 52 people.

They included brigade member of staff, Lee Baisden, from Hornchurch, was one of the 52 who died at the 7/7 bombings and had only joined in February 2004 as a finance officer. An inquest by coroner, Lady Justice Hallett, in May 2011, ruled that the 52 victims were unlawfully killed.

The coroner also found that on the balance of probabilities none of the deceased would have

ANNIVERSARY DEFENDER IS EXTRA SPECIAL

By: Mike Torpey

A UNIQUE Defender anniversary model has been built by Land Rover - with help from supporters of the brand like adventurer Bear Grylls and actress Virginia McKenna.

The one-of-a-kind vehicle, which marks the UK production of the two-millionth Series Land Rover and Defender, will go under the hammer at Bonhams auction house in December as production of the current Defender enters its final phase.

Proceeds from the sale will go to Land Rover's humanitarian and conservation partners – the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies and the Born Free Foundation.

The vehicle will be publicly unveiled by Bonhams at this weekend's Goodwood Festival of Speed and after a schedule of public appearances 'Defender 2,000,000' will be auctioned in central London.

Jaguar Land Rover chief Dr Ralf Speth said: "Over 67 years, the Series Land Rover and in turn Defender has been the transport of choice for explorers, charity organisations, farmers and even royalty.

"Throughout history it has helped pioneers to reach the unreachable. What started life as an agricultural workhorse has transcended the automotive world to become a worldwide design icon."

The 'Defender 2,000,000' features distinctive touches like a map of Red Wharf Bay – where the design for the original Land Rover was first drawn in the sand – engraved into the aluminium fender, which contrasts with the exterior's silver satin paint.

A unique 'no 2,000,000' badge sits on the rear of the vehicle, which is mirrored on the interior console and the design is finished with Santorini Black wheels and wheel arches, roof, door hinges, grille and mirror caps.

Inside, the leather seats also feature the Red Wharf Bay graphic and 'no 2,000,000' logos have been stitched on the headrests.

An aluminium plaque, signed by everyone who helped assemble the vehicle, is fitted to the driver's seat plinth while on the front and rear, S90 HUE registration plates – a reference to the first ever pre-production Land Rover, registration 'HUE 166' – complete the Defender.

Last month a team of life-long Defender fans were invited to join the Solihull production line to help build the vehicle, including Bear Grylls.

And he said: "The Land Rover Defender has been there for me more times than I care to remember. They are so often the unsung heroes of our TV shows, working hard in the toughest conditions to get crew in and out of exceptionally challenging terrains.

"Known and respected by me and many other adventurers for their rugged reliability – it was an honour to be asked to take part in the build of this very special car."

Production of the original Land Rover Series I began at the Lode Lane facility in 1947 ahead of its launch at the Amsterdam Motor Show on April 30, 1948. Since then two million examples of the Series I, II and Defender have been produced at Solihull.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. All advertisements are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current Bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher codes for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address.
